

« With the use of the Forbrain headphones, the boy I work with can easily switch back and forth between topics and can focus on what his peers and teachers are telling him. »

Here is some positive feedback I've received in 2 weeks alone: It has helped a 4-year-old boy who has a challenge getting out of his head. Therefore in school, he cannot refocus on what the teacher or his peers are talking to him about because he's busy creating a story in his head. With the use of the Forbrain headphones, this boy can easily switch back and forth between topics and can focus on what his peers and teachers are telling him. He has also been able to sit more calmly during circle time.

A 9-year-old boy diagnosed with ADHD - his attention and focus have increased in class and while doing homework.

A 19-year-old girl who has executive function difficulties - planning and executing tasks - has made significant improvement within a week of use.

I myself, borrowed them from my client and wrote 4 blog posts for my website in 45 minutes! A true miracle :) I actually said the material out loud as I typed it and it helped develop the thoughts into a cohesive post.

---

Miriam Maneal is an OT and Author of The Parent-Child Dance.

For more information, have a look here: <http://otthrive.com/new-book/>